Monuments destroyed

Bay Cemetery victimized by looters and vandals

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Vandals are devastating the city's cemetery on Second Street, Bay St. Louis City Council was warned Tuesday, as a local resident volunteered to lead a restoration effort.

Andrew Tilden told council members the destruction has escalated in recent weeks, leaving toppled tombstones and spray painted memorials behind. In addition, pieces of valuable "folk art" have disappeared from the cemetery, he said, and probably have been sold to antique dealers.

"There aren't many angels left in the cemetery," said Tilden of the traditional decorations placed on children's graves.

Mayor Eddie Favre agreed the problem has escalated recently, and said he will ask police to increase patrols around the city-owned cemetery.

Beyond that, however, there were questions as to the city's legal position.

City Attorney John Scafield said while the city owns the cemetery, the tombstones are private property. The city couldn't expend funds to repair the damages, he said, to privately owned property.

And, he added, if the city participates in volunteer efforts to repair the vandalized tombstones, it would have to make an effort to contact relatives of the deceased. If that effort fails, he said, the city probably would be on solid ground pitching in with Tilden's restoration program.

Tilden said he personally would buy the few materials necessary to re-erect toppled tombstones, although he hopes he'll receive offers of help.

"That's all the ancestors of this town, the fathers of this town," Tilden said of the cemetery. Instead of respect, it has been shown destruction, he added.

A new year, a new life

Anne-Elise Genevieve Fontaine became Hancock Medical Center's first baby of 1995 when she entered the world on January 5 at 9:48 p.m. The infant is the second daughter of pediatrician Dr. David Fontaine and his wife, Sheila, of Bay St. Louis. HMC saw an increase of approximately 20% in deliveries in 1994 compared to the previous year. Mrs. Fontaine received a gift basket in addition to a car seat, diaper bag and other items provided to each new mother in the hospital's First Impressions program.

Railroad crossing issue aired in closed meeting

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis city officials met behind closed doors Tuesday concerning plans to close four street crossings of CSX railroad tracks.

Council members reported no action on the controversial issue after opening their doors to adjourn.

The city's pact with CSX to buy the former CSX depot contained a pledge by the city that it would join in a request to the Mississippi Department of Transportation to close crossings at Citizen, Ballentine, St. Charles and Agnes streets.

CSX has now agreed to drop the idea of closing the St. Charles crossing, but insists that the city agree to push for the other three closings and a fourth as well.

Angry citizens packed a recent City Council meeting to urge that Citizen and Ballentine streets be left open, despite the CSX-city agreement.

The nature of Tuesday night's closed session was secret, except announcement that it concerned the railroad crossing issue, and an unrelated dispute with Seashores Utilities.

Earlier, in open session, council deferred action on a proposed contract with the Bay St. Louis Development Foundation, a private, non-profit local group that wants to spearhead development and promotional activities in the city.

The proposed contract was discussed in some detail during a workshop Monday night, sparking numerous questions from council members James Thriffley and Tad Black.

Under the proposal, the foundation would receive the part-time administrative services of a city employee, and city help with office supplies, postage, training and travel costs amounting to some $3,000.

Mayor Eddie Favre said the city's cash outlays would be less than that, however, by providing office supplies, postage and

City schools to expand

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Bay-Waveland School District will be doing some expanding at two elementary schools.

Plans are in the works to add six classroom additions at North Bay Elementary and Waveland Elementary.

The plans, drawn up by architect Kevin Fitzpatrick, will be submitted to the state for approval.

Bay-Waveland Superintendent Paul Tisdale said the exact cost of the construction project is unknown at the present time because the project has not been through the bid process yet.

The net square footage of the classrooms, Fitzpatrick said at Monday night's meeting, is 997 square feet.

"The classrooms are being built to kindergarten specifications. We are planning on putting kindergarten and possibly first grade classes in the new building," Tisdale said.

The need of the new classrooms comes from a dramatic jump in the last few years in the amount of student population in the area.

"With this construction completed we should be in pretty good shape for at least the next ten years," Tisdale said.

There was also some discussion concerning a possible policy to handle when teachers go to other districts to instruct the teachers there on the new assessment testing.

Tisdale said he would develop a policy for consideration and have it ready for the next board meeting.

Proposed land use map causes flap at Council

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Confusion over what happens next with the city's comprehensive development proposal clouded two meetings of Bay St. Louis city officials and citizens this week.

The issue came up in meetings Monday and Tuesday nights, with council fielding questions from the audience concerning the draft proposal's status and future.

Continental Consultants has completed five of six chapters of the proposed plan, along with some maps depicting existing and recommended land uses and suggested upgrades to the city's network of streets and roads.

While some of the maps are in the draft proposal, some are available for view only at City Hall Annex — a sore point with civic groups which have been following the planning process closely. City officials have promised that the proposed land use map would be reproduced in mass quantities and available as handouts to the public.

The land use map hasn't been reproduced yet, and the final chapter of the plan, a proposed capital improvements spending Thriffley and Black raised concerns about city representation on the foundation's board, and the city's ability to control the actions that the foundation takes in behalf of the city. Thriffley asked Monday that the matter be tabled until some of his questions could be answered.

Tuesday, Favre asked that council take action despite Thriffley's request for postponement. Council sided with Thriffley, tabling the request in a 5-0 vote.

In other matters, council: —Authorized Favre to negotiate for purchase of McDonald's Field and a parcel of land adjoining the VCI gymnasium. He said the field should be owned by the city for recreational program purposes. The lot, he said, is needed for parking at the newly renovated gym.

—Agreed to renew the city's participation in the Hancock County Metropolitan Task Force for another year. The task force is a narcotics crime fighting unit comprised of police from Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county Sheriff's Department.

Thriffley complained that regular reports on the task force's operations have not been submitted to council, although they were promised months ago.

—Agreed to additional smoke testing of the city's sewer system. The city is testing and rehabilitating the system in various areas.

—Agreed to hold a 5:30 p.m. workshop Jan. 17, prior to the next regularly scheduled council meeting at 7 p.m.

Bay leaders cautious on annexation request

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials said Tuesday they shouldn't scramble to annex a small subdivision without investigating larger annexation possibilities.

Mayor Eddie Favre told residents of Jourdan River Isles that city officials should look at a larger area to annex than their small subdivision. In fact, the city's comprehensive development plan now in draft stages considers some adjoining unincorporated areas as well as the city's existing boundaries, he noted.

Some 67 residents of Jourdan River Isles were represented Tuesday at council's meeting by officials of the subdivision's homeowners association. They've presented petitions to the county Board of Supervisors and the city concerning the annexation possibility.

"This is not just something we just jumped up and came up with overnight," said the association's vice president, Henry Achord. The subject has been discussed by the subdivision residents for years, he said.

Petitioners live on Fiber, Wolfe and Good streets, and Harrison Road, off Blue Meadow Road in an area near Casino Magic.

In particular, Achord said the residents are concerned over the lack of zoning and building codes in the county, as well as the absence of a county leash law. "We'd kind of like to keep it from going bad before you do have to go in that direction" with annexation, Achord said of the quality of life in Jourdan River Isles.

Financially, annexation would be a boost to the residents, he agreed with Favre — the city's five-mill tax levy would be almost offset by removal of the subdivision from fire district taxation. Favre and Achord also noted the annexation would cause dramatic drops in fire insurance rates for the new city residents.

Favre was cautious, however, about the financial picture for the city. While tax collections from the subdivision would be relatively small, the city would be obligated to provide all city services, except sewer service, he said. The subdivision is served by a sewer district.

The Board of Supervisors has set a Jan. 19 public hearing on the matter, at 6 p.m. at the Courthouse.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This is the time of the year to start looking at your 'walking shoes' as the saying goes. It won't be too long before we are engulfed with Mardi Gras parades.

Mardi Gras is on February 28 this year, so that means carnival balls are already under way, and parades are not far behind.

We will be telling you more about the parades as the time nears.

A popular activity for girls ages 8 to 18 in recent years has been girls softball in Bay St. Louis.

Things are already gearing up for the season.

Registration is set for Feb. 18 and 19 at Mississippi Power Company, Bay St. Louis, from noon until 4 p.m.

Girls residing anywhere in Hancock County and Pass Christian are eligible to register.

A certified birth certificate and $25, along with a parent to sign the form is necessary, according to Bill Carrigee, Girls Softball League president.

I realize it is early to start announcing the registration, but some may want to schedule ahead with their plans.

For further information, call Carrigee at 466-4353.

By the way, the Bay St. Louis league won all four state titles last season.

Don't forget the Bay-Waveland Elks second annual Basketball Hoop Shoot set for Saturday starting at 9 a.m.

Sounds like it will be a fun time for boys and girls who have been selected from their respective schools in age groups 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13.

It will be a free-throw basketball contest between the youngsters selected by their physical education teachers from area schools.

The names of candidates for various county offices are beginning to make the rounds in Hancock County.

The registration day of March 1, 5 p.m., is much earlier than in previous state and county elections.

The most names I have heard mentioned for a specific office is that of chancery clerk, since Mike Necaise is not seeking re-election.

Who knows, this may be one of the races like we had for sheriff many years ago. In that race there were 15 seeking the top law enforcement spot in the county.

I know there are many out there anxious to know just who will be running for certain offices.

We should be having many announcements in the coming weeks.

Lack of trash collection concerns Waveland resident

To the Editor:

Not long ago we were notified through your paper that trash collection would no longer be available through the county.

Obviously not everyone reads the paper, as I have seen trash sitting in front of houses for months since the change of policy.

The city workers should report it, so the tenants could be notified to remove the eyesore.

I myself have renovated some and have a pile of trash (behind my house) wondering what to do with it. I have no truck and am wondering, if I borrowed a truck, where I would put it.

Since the county says they have no place for the trash, then that must mean I don't either. I suspect I'll be seeing more trash thrown in empty fields and abandoned roads.

Also, there needs to be a recycles pick-up. That would help, and so many cities and small towns have had this service for a while.

One of the things I really liked about this town was the trash pickup. It was so great!

It helped motivate me to keep my place clean and neat.

Well, I hope something can be done to restore our trash pickup.

Thanks,
Lynn Paul

Congress sprints first day

I must say that I was very pleased that the new Speaker of the House, Mr. Newt Gingrich of Georgia, kept his word on the first day of the 104th Congress. Soon after the opening prayer and the sounding of the gavel, the House voted on a number of wide-sweeping initiatives, most of which I supported.

Most of the "Contract with America" makes just good common sense. Of the initiatives, I look forward to tackling legislation that would cut taxes, end the practice of congressmen casting proxy votes in committee, require at least a three-fifths majority for approval of a tax increase, and call for an audit of Congress.

Furthermore I'm pleased the House passed the Congressional Accountability Act, which would make Congress adhere to labor laws like other Americans must obey.

I had already voted for this bill twice last year. However, the bill failed in the Senate.

The first day of Congress also gave me the opportunity to show my displeasure with both men vying for Speaker of the House. On a roll-call vote that pitted U.S. Rep. Dick Gephardt against Rep. Newt Gingrich, I simply responded "present." Most members of Congress voted for their party leaders in a show of party support.

My vote was not solely against Mr. Gephardt. I didn't feel either one of the men should have been chosen for Speaker. There are a half-dozen Republicans and Democrats I would have been more than happy to support. Those members, unfortunately, were not selected by their respective leaders to run for the position.

I also voted "present" because the Democratic leader mishandled my efforts in October to push the House to vote on the Clinton administration's invasion of Haiti. If most south Mississippians will remember, the decision-making was robbed from Congress and the American people.

All in all though, I am pleased with the first day of the 104th Congress. We worked hard and got many things done, and I anticipate many more good days as the 104th Congress gets settled.

Governor's 'line item veto' power before Supreme Court

A constitutional crisis precipitated by Gov. Kirk Fordice's arrogant, self-proclaimed interpretation of the "line item veto" power to disapprove parts of legislative appropriations is now in the hands of the state Supreme Court.

The governor had been soundly whipped in a lower court that ruled his "line item veto" actions relative to 27 appropriation bills and two bond bills passed by the 1993 Legislature were unconstitutional and invalid.

Now the final word in this gubernatorial gambit by Fordice will come from the highest state court, which, most state legislators are hoping will rule very shortly, well in time for them to prepare the 1995-96 state budget. Arguments on the case had been held in November before the entire court.

What Fordice attempted to do was to not only strike out certain figures in the 27 appropriation bills, but insert his own figures. And in the two bond bills, he not only struck out several of the capital improvement projects included in the bills, he also wrote in a new total amount of bonds to be issued.

To begin with, Section 73 of the state constitution gives the governor authority to only strike individual, free-standing parts in an appropriation bill passed by the Legislature. It says nothing about amending or rewriting the legislation.

And, of course, as was argued by state Attorney General Mike Moore in representing three lawmakers who filed suit against Fordice, the constitution doesn't give him authority to "line item" veto any parts of a bond bill. He, all parties agree, can veto the entire bond bill but not parts of it.

The issue raised by the Fordice grab for fiscal powers reserved to the state Legislature is a serious governmental question, going to the basic separation of powers inherent in the Mississippi Constitution as well as the U.S. Constitution.

If the governor can write his own figures into an appropriation bill, then he could take over the appropriation process from the Legislature. Of course, Fordice lowered the figures in his so-called "line item vetoes" but he just as well could have raised them if his action was valid.

Should Fordice be able to get away with changing the figures in appropriation bills and delete bonds he didn't like in bond bills, said House Speaker Tim Ford, "it would make our deliberations useless." The case, said Ford, "is extremely important — it could tip the scales in favor of the governor to control the state budgeting process."

In his brief on behalf of the three suing legislators, Moore argued that Fordice's version of the line item veto on the 27 appropriation bills amounted to his writing his own laws not approved by either branch of the Legislature.

The governor contended in his arguments that his changes in the figures in the appropriation bills had become moot because the life of an appropriation is only 14 months under the constitution, and the Legislature did not act to override nor had the courts decided a challenge to his actions in that period of time.

Lawmakers had refused to consider an override of his rewriting the figures in the bills because they regarded his action as a nullity, Moore pointed out. The mootness argument used by Fordice, the attorney general declared, meant he could "usurp the legislative process, rewrite legislative appropriations at will, and never have the legality of his actions finally decided by the courts."

Should this be allowed unchecked, he said, the governor could repeat it in the following fiscal year without court review. He showed in his arguments that Fordice had, in fact, done the same thing in 1994 on two appropriation bills.

The contention of the Fordice appeal is that the two 1993 bond bills from which he struck certain projects and allowed others to remain were the same as appropriations and that he had authority to veto parts of the bills under Section 73.

Bond bills are clearly revenue bills and not appropriations, Moore argued, based on both legislative and court precedents, and require a higher vote than appropriations to be approved by the Legislature.

Moore cited a 1905 Mississippi case in which the same question of bonds being entirely different from appropriations and not subject to partial veto settled the issue in the Supreme Court.

Citing that case, Moore argued that Fordice, in substituting his own judgment for which projects would be funded in the legislative act "was legislating and creating new legislation." That, he said, is forbidden by Sections 1 and 2 of the state constitution.

Obviously, if bond bills were ruled to be appropriations as Fordice contends, subject to the one-year limitation, it could completely hamstring the state's ability to build capital improvements through the use of bonds.

If Fordice could get away with writing his own fiscal laws, it would throw representative government into a cocked hat. Even the governor has to live by the state constitution.

Moran announces for Supervisor

Philip Moran

Philip E. Moran of the Kiln community announces he is seeking the office of Board of Supervisor for District 5 in the August Democratic primary. Moran is a lifelong resident of Hancock County and the Kiln community.

He was graduated from Hancock North Central High School in 1979 as vice president of his class. He is also a 1981 graduate of Pearl River Community College. He received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture and business from Mississippi State University in 1983.

Moran has owned and successfully operated his pest control business in Hancock County and along the Coast for 12 years. He is an active member of Annunciation Parish in Kiln. His civic activities include membership in the North Hancock County and Diamondhead

Business and Professional associations. He is also a member of the Work Base Learning Program at Hancock High School, where members of the business community and education department work together to help students receive guided work experience while in school.

Moran and his wife Sheila have two children, a daughter, Lori, 8, and a son, Alan, 7.

He is the son of the late Carl and Geneva Moran of Kiln, who were long-time educators in the community. He is also the grandson of the late Joe Moran, a former long-term supervisor of Hancock County.

When asked what his goals for Hancock County are Moran stated, "During this campaign my goal is to meet and talk with all voters in District 5 and listen to your concerns. I sincerely believe that with the unit system firmly in place, our county government now more than ever has to be directed and maintained as a business."

"This is necessary to live within our means and run efficiently for the taxpayers to get the most service for our dollar. In doing so, this will require level-headed and logical leadership from our county government. This is where I feel that my educational background and 12 years experience in business will enable me to make decisions which will help maintain a strong economic growth for our county and efficiently handle the many tough and important issues that our county government will face in the next four years."

First test on new shuttle engine at Stennis

The first flight acceptance test on a Space Shuttle Main Engine in the Block I configuration, which should prove to be more reliable and cheaper to operate, was performed Tuesday at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center.

Stennis Space Center, NASA's Center of Excellence for large propulsion systems testing, has been testing all main engines for the Space Shuttle since 1975. Shuttle engines in Block I configuration such as this one — Engine 2036 — are improved in that they are outfitted with a new configuration powerhead and Pratt & Whitney's high-pressure liquid oxygen turbopump.

NASA's Leslie B. "Boyc" Mix, director of Test and Engineering at Stennis Space Center, said, "With the successful resolution of the Pratt & Whitney high-pressure oxygen turbopump design issues and the continued funding support for the Block I hardware, we have reached an important milestone in the Space Shuttle Main Engine program. Stennis Space Center will be providing shuttle engines to the flight program which will have a higher flight reliability and will be cheaper to operate."

A primary advantage of the new powerhead, which began development testing at Stennis in 1991, is that it permit the engine to achieve nominal thrust while operating the fuel turbine at lower temperatures and pressures, thereby increasing flight reliability.

The powerhead also has a single-tube heat exchanger which eliminates seven weld joints inside the engine, reducing potential leak points. Another feature of the powerhead is the elimination of the main injector baffles, thereby increasing engine efficiency.

Pratt & Whitney's new liquid oxygen turbopump will reduce maintenance and increase operation life, while also decreasing Space Shuttle Main Engine (SSME) operating costs.

Stennis airport reopens Saturday

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Stennis International Airport reopens for business Saturday afternoon, with a freshly overlaid runway and new parking area for airplanes.

And some of the planes that will be flying into the facility are new to the airport — officials say Air Nevada will begin landing a new service of casino junket flights this weekend.

Airport director Bill Stovall said Air Nevada plans to begin its service with one plane per weekend for three weeks, and increase the numbers until its up to 10 flights per weekend.

That's in addition to resumption of patron flights sponsored by Casino Magic and Jubilee Casino.

With Casino Magic's new 200-room inn now open, the casino plans about one flight per day during January, escalating to two or more daily next month, Stovall said. Those planes will transport passengers for two-night stays at the casino's inn.

Stovall said Jubilee officials have told airport authorities they plan to begin using Stennis for a flight a day next month.

On January 21, Mardi Gras flags will be added to the American flags for that season on the light poles along Highway 90, Schloegel said.

The majority of state flags were donated by their respective governors and Disabled Veterans commanders.

The city of Bay St. Louis, clubs, youth groups, organizations, schools, churches, businesses, industries, families and individuals provide funds to maintain the flag display 365 days a year.

Schloegel said, "As the American flag typifies the glory of our nation, the Bay Flag Memorial Organization has adopted the United States and the other flags as emblems of freedom and symbol of unity in the community."

plan, hasn't been finished.

In a workshop session Monday, City Council president Charles Scianna asked that council begin discussing details of the draft proposal which was issued in November. Mayor Eddie Favre, however, said no council discussion is necessary until the document has been reviewed by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

And, he said, the land use map won't actually be adopted when City Council takes final action on the overall plan. "This map isn't being adopted," he said. "That's a working copy of a potential land use plan."

Favre said the plan will contain no map depicting exactly how parcels of property will be used in the future.

Those statements appeared to confuse the audience Monday, and again on Tuesday when the subject came up at council's public forum.

Weight Off series offered

The Harrison County Cooperative Extension Service is offering a six-week series called "Weight Off Wisely" to men and women 18 years and above.

Classes will be on Thursdays, beginning today through Feb. 16 at the Handsboro Arts Center on Cowan-Lorraine Road in Gulfport. There is a $5 course supply fee. Class times are 9:30 to 11 a.m. and 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Participants may join the course during the first two weeks of the series.

To register or for information, call 865-4227.

Les Fillingame, a city official who until recently headed the Planning and Zoning Commission, was not at either meeting. He explained in an interview, however, that the land use plan amounts to "a very integral part of the plan."

The map depicts the text of the plan's proposed land use scheme for the city — and will be adopted along with the plan after it has been modified to suit Planning and Zoning, City Council and the public at large, he said.

Even at that, however, adoption of the land use map does not rezone the city, he said. Instead, it and the plan will serve as the basis for future zoning decisions the city makes, Fillingame added.

Once the city adopts a comprehensive plan, he said, officials will move on particular recommendations it contains. A top priority, he said, will be work to create a historic preservation ordinance such as the plan suggests.

A new zoning ordinance also is in the future, based on the plan's recommendations, which will include a new zoning map.

Fillingame said the capital improvements portion of the comprehensive plan hasn't been drafted yet because the consultants wanted to get some "feedback" from council members on the draft plan itself.

The land use plan's map hasn't been reproduced in mass, he said, because officials wanted to avoid the expense of reproducing it unless council generally accepts the proposals it depicts.

The plan needs to go back to the Planning and Zoning Commission, Fillingame said, because four of its seven members are newly-appointed to the commission and are not familiar with the plan.

Once the new commission is caught up on the plan itself, it will hold a public hearing on it and make a recommendation to City Council, Fillingame said. Council then will accept, reject or modify the plan, and put it up for a public hearing, he added.

At that point, the land use map will be reproduced for public distribution, Fillingame said.

NASA scientists' research may save farmers millions

Foresters and farmers may be able to plant their crops with confidence thanks to a new method discovered by two NASA scientists in the Earth Observation Research Office at the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Greg Carter of Long Beach and Bill Cibula of Picayune have discovered a way to identify plants subjected to stress often before damage is visible. Plants showing visible signs of stress, such as discoloration or loss of leaves, often deteriorate and die resulting in crop loss.

Vegetation is subjected to many types of stress — insect infestation, lack of water or nutrients, or diseases. The scientists discovered that no matter what the cause, most plant species react to stress the same way.

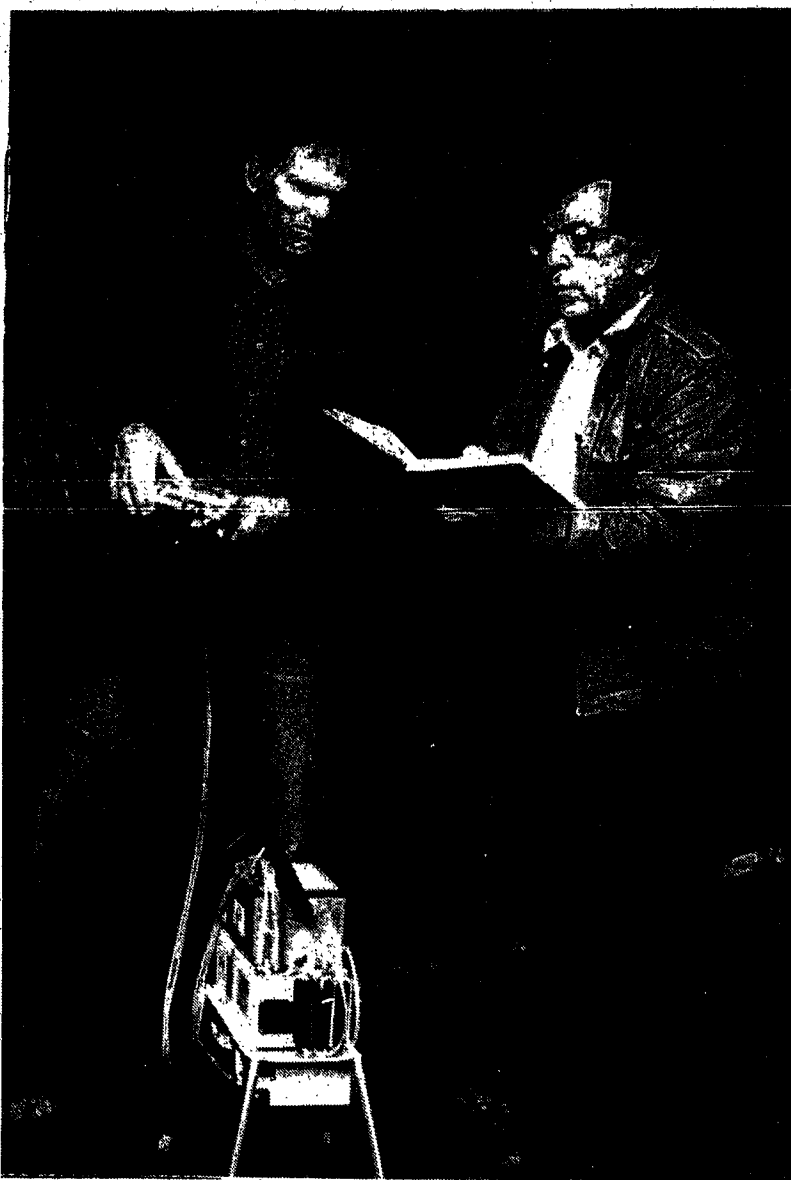

This new technique measures the reflectance, or the amount of sunlight that reflects off a plant leaf of healthy and unhealthy plants. Stressed plants reflect more sunlight than healthy plants. Though Carter's and Cibula's new method does not determine what is causing the stress, it may allow farmers to go in, determine the problem and possibly save the plants.

"If you can, imagine a farmer standing in head-high on a flat 1,000-acre field trying to figure out what part is healthy and what part is not. Since he can't see but a few feet in front of him, he would have to walk a 1,000-acre field, which would take all day," Carter said.

"Using this remote sensing method in an aircraft, you could tell in an instant where the crop may be stressed, saving much time."

During eight years of research, the scientists discovered that with stress, vegetation reflectance changes most at specific wavelengths in the electromagnetic spectrum. The scientists photograph or digitally image the plants using narrow-band filters to see the plants only at these wavelengths.

Both healthy and stressed plants look the same through the lens of a regular camera. However, using these special filters, stressed plants appear much brighter than healthy ones, showing farmers where to concentrate their efforts.

Scientists help farmers

Two NASA scientists in the Earth Observation Research Office at Stennis Space Center have discovered a method that may help farmers distinguish between healthy and unhealthy plants before signs of trouble are visible, possibly saving farmers millions of dollars in lost crops. Pictured from left are Greg Carter of Long Beach and Bill Cibula of Picayune using a photosynthesis measuring system on a pine tree at the Harrison Experimental Forest about 15 miles north of Gulfport. (NASA photo)

Although the two scientists do not have a patent on their newly discovered method, they were each awarded a Space Act Award for scientific discovery from NASA in the spring of 1994.

"It would be like charging astronomers for looking at the sun through a certain optical filter," Carter said. "You can't put a patent on nature."

Since Carter's key article about plant stress research came out in American Journal of Botany in 1993, he has received numerous letters and calls from scientists around the world wanting more information about his research.

"I didn't set out to solve this particular problem," Carter said. "It's just putting two and two together, taking this concept, putting it into a remote sensing package and hopefully being able to help farmers detect crop stress earlier, thus saving them money."

Taylor's Hancock office to open January 17

Hancock and Pearl River County residents will soon get a much-needed congressional district office, said U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor.

Taylor said by opening a district office in the Hancock County Courthouse, Pearl River and Hancock County residents will be better served.

"For the past few years, we have seen an increased need to open a district office for those folks who call Hancock and Pearl River County home," said Taylor, a resident of Bay St. Louis.

"The bottom line is that these good folks will no longer have to drive 20 or 30 miles to Gulfport to meet with a member of my staff to discuss an issue of importance."

Doors will open for business at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17. The office is located near the Civil Defense Office on the bottom floor of the Hancock County Courthouse at 150 Main Street in Bay St. Louis. The office, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, can be reached by calling 466-3972.

Elevated cross walk planned at SSC

BY MARY G. SEILEY
St. Stanislaus officials plan to build an elevated walkway across Beach Boulevard to the campus pier.

The structure would replace a similar crosswalk which was built in 1947 and destroyed by Hurricane Camille in 1969.

Officials say the new crosswalk will be concrete — and hurricane proof. It will incorporate the arched structures of the older buildings on campus.

Increased traffic along Beach Boulevard and the need to boost safety for the schools' students are behind the proposed construction, officials say. The new structure will have access to the pier for walkers and those in wheel chairs as well.

Fred Wagner is architect for the project.

Officials say they hope to have the structure complete in time for opening of the school's summer camp in June.

Treasure Bay

Casino files Chapter 11

Treasure Bay Corp. announced Tuesday it has moved to convert the involuntary Chapter 7 petition filed against the company Nov. 18, 1994 to a Chapter 11 in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Biloxi.

Bernie Burkholder, chairman and CEO of Treasure Bay Corp., said, "This marks the formal stage of the restructuring process the company announced in August of last year."

"We had been making steady progress with our creditors in working toward a consensual restructuring when a small splinter group forced the Chapter 7 petition."

"I am confident that our long-term debt can be reorganized and that the company will emerge profitable and be a strong contender in the Mississippi gaming industry. I am very optimistic about Treasure Bay's future."

Treasure Bay Corp. owns casinos in Biloxi and Tunica County, Miss. Both vessels are replicas of 18th century Caribbean pirate ships and total more than 93,000 square feet of gaming space, in addition to other dining and entertainment areas.

Treasure Bay assumed operational control of both properties on Dec. 9. William M. Dougall was named chief operating officer of Treasure Bay Corp. and general manager of Treasure Bay Biloxi.

Lynn M. Simons was named general manager of Treasure Bay Tunica. Both Dougall and Simons bring extensive operational experience to Treasure Bay.

Giardina is Lady Luck marketing director

Joe Giardina is the new marketing director for Lady Luck Biloxi. The announcement was made by Lady Luck Biloxi's general manager, Bob Peyton.

Giardina will be responsible for every phase of marketing for the casino, including advertising, tour and travel, public relations, direct mail and guest services.

For the past two years Giardina served as director of public relations and investor relations for Grand Casino's two Gulf Coast casinos, Grand Casino Gulfport and Grand Casino Biloxi.

Prior to entering the gaming industry, Giardina spent 20 years as a television journalist in Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

Giardina says, "I thank Grand Casinos for the opportunity to witness the birth of a new industry in Mississippi. "After helping open the world's two largest floating casinos I'm confident and excited about taking on new challenges with the Lady Luck Biloxi Casino."

He added, "There is no doubt Biloxi's Casino Row is becoming a major tourist destination, and Lady Luck will play a major role in its future development."

'Act Up' Night set for Bay Theatre

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, founded in 1946, one of the oldest Little Theatres in the state of Mississippi, will present an 'Act Up' Night on Saturday, Jan. 14, at 7 p.m.

In order to bolster interest and support for the theatre, the board of directors will also hold an open house in addition to the 'Act Up' Night.

Entertainment and refreshments will be served.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is located on Boardman Avenue, off Dunbar Avenue.

Al Showers, spokesman, said, "It is going to be a fun time for everyone. Anyone with or without talent is invited to come. The theatre needs all types of talent and support."

The board of directors is planning for a big celebration for the organization's 50th anniversary in 1996.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Oyster and Artichoke Soup

I'm sure that soups were among the first, possibly the very first dishes which mankind started to cook once fire had been mastered and the first crude cooking pots had been made.

And, there's scarcely a time of year when a cup or bowl of soup isn't welcome, from steaming hot and hearty soups to ice cold ones, according to the season and your tastes.

For many years, soup and bread were consumed mainly by the poor, who boiled up bones and scraps of meat and vegetables in a pot full of water when there was nothing better on hand to help ease their hunger.

In the early days of our country, soup making was often based upon optimism, as results were unpredictable! The colonial housewife set her vegetables to cook in a pot of water as she waited hopefully for her husband to bring home the meat from his daily hunting and foraging trips.

Soups of all sorts are among my favorites, from long-simmering bean or beef-vegetable soups to the more delicate broth or cream soups. Among my favorites is:

OYSTER AND ARTICHOKES SOUP

- 1 pt. oysters, with liquor (liquid) reserved
- 2 cans artichoke hearts, drained and quartered
- 1 stick butter or margarine
- 1 bunch green onions, chopped
- 2 ribs of celery, chopped
- 1 qt. chicken stock (may substitute canned broth or bouillon if necessary)
- 1 cup evaporated (canned) milk
- 1 cup half-and-half
- Cayenne pepper to your taste
- 1/2 Tbsp. (optional) Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tsp. fresh parsley, chopped or minced

I prefer to use chicken stock for this soup. I use the half-and-half and canned milk, instead of milk alone, as there is sometimes a problem of curdling with milk alone; at least, I've found it so. I also prefer the butter instead of margarine in this case. At any rate, melt the butter and saute the green onions and celery until soft. Add the artichoke hearts, then the stock and seasonings, cover the pot and simmer for a few minutes. Gradually add the oyster liquor and the half-and-half and canned milk, stirring with a whisk until the mixture is smooth. Add the oysters and simmer just until the edges of the oysters start to curl, 3 to 4 minutes at the most.

You may prefer to chop the oysters; if so, cut the cooking time down. If the artichoke hearts are large, cut them so that they fit into the soup spoon. Sprinkle the chopped parsley over as you serve the soup.

If the mixture is too thin for your taste, reduce the soup down somewhat simmering just a bit longer; if it's too thick, add a bit more half-and-half. Some cooks prefer to make a roux base. I prefer it this way.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

"Many of us think about the meaning of life, the possibilities and pitfalls inherent in unknown tomorrows and the paucity of our relationship with God at the change of the year."

"If we think we ought to have a better relationship with God, not much is going to happen. If we are aware of an inner emptiness that we want filled, if we feel isolated and lonely in our inner spirits and want the companionship of God, if we are unhappy with how we treat others and want to become more loving, if there is a profound yearning for God, then we have the possibility of using the coming year in which we nurture our spirits and become more connected with Him who enriches and blesses life."

Rocks buzzed by Hornets 80-60

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw basketball team entertained the East Central Hornets in a key Division 8 Class 4A contest on Tuesday night in the Brother Peter Memorial Gym. The game was a battle for first place in Division 8 Class 4A and the Rocks came up short-handed, about 20 points short-handed.

The Rocks fell to the buzzing Hornets 80-60. East Central shot an incredible 76% from the field and missed only two shots from the charity stripe.

Coach Jay Ladner stated, "I was afraid of that big win over Gulfport on Saturday. Our guys were still reliving that win. We preached and preached to them to not dwell on it, however, you see the result. Plus, I don't think my Tabasco tie had anything to do with it."

In junior varsity action, the Rocks jumped out to a 14-4 first period lead and extended that lead to 26-10 by halftime. The Rocks outscored the undersized Hornets 18-5 in the third period en route to a 48-39 win. Clay Williams led the JV Rocks with 16 points. Matt Roth and Mike Magee each scored 8 points for the Rocks. Matt Kopfler added 7 points while Correy Gex tallied 5 points. Jay Lea and Drew Ladner added two points each to round the Rocks in the scoring column.

The JV record now stands at 10-3 overall.

Coach Jerry Spell added, "This win was a good one for because it enabled me to clear the bench in the fourth quarter. My guys who don't normally get lots of playing time played the whole fourth quarter. It gave my guys valuable game experience."

In varsity action, the Rocks nailed the opening shot by Brandon Benoit, but that would be the only lead they would enjoy. The Hornets tied the game at 2-2 with 6:46 remaining in the first period. That would be as close as the Rocks would come throughout the game.

The Rocks fell behind 17-11 in the first period.

Terry Lawyer closed the gap to 17-15 with 6:54 to go in the second period; however, East Central went on a 10-2 run in 1:22 seconds to extend the lead to 27-17.

Vince Moran hit a three-pointer, his first of five on the night, with 3:27 to go in the half to bring the Rocks to within three at 27-24.

Moran closed out SSC's scoring in the first half with back-to-back three-pointers to bring the score to 37-30 at the half.

At halftime, the Rocks had Vince Moran and Terry Lawyer in double digits for scoring. Moran had 12 points coming off three three-pointers and Lawyer had 14 points with 5 rebounds.

The Hornets had John Parker with 13 points and Jade Sharp with 10 points. Adrian Holly had 8 points for the Hornets in the first half.

Moran hit another key three-pointer at the 4:35 mark to pull the Rocks within four at 44-40. After a layup by Kyle Whitmann, the Hornets went on a 9-0 run before Moran hit his final three-pointer with :04 seconds left in the third to close the gap to 53-45.

The fourth period saw the Rocks get outscored 27-15 from a barrage of 12-foot jumpers by the Hornets.

Coach Jay Ladner commented, "We just got whipped. Like I said we were dwelling on the Gulfport win and East Central just shot the lights out. They shot in the high 70's tonight and we couldn't get them to miss. We threw out a lot of different defenses but all they saw was net."

Vince Moran led the Rocks with 23 points off 5 three-pointers and grabbed 5 rebounds. Terry Lawyer added 21 points with 9 rebounds. Brandon Benoit added five points, dished out six assists, and tallied three steals.

Adrian Holly led the Hornets with 24 points. Holly scored 16 points in the second half. John Parker added 23 points and Jade Sharp tallied 17 points for East Central.

The Rocks record now stands at 14-8 overall and 4-2 in the district.

Blue Meadow project more costly than hoped

BY MARY G. SEILEY

City officials are having to rethink the idea of widening Blue Meadow Road to Joe's Bayou Road.

Preliminary construction estimates — not counting the costs of buying rights-of-way and engineering fees — come to almost $840,000, Bay St. Louis City Council members learned Monday. There's only $300,000 available for the project through the State Transportation Program.

City workers widened Blue Meadow from Highway 90 to Bay High School recently, at the city's expense.

Public Works Director Ronald J. Vanney said Tuesday the city now will consider segmenting the additional widening — paying for the project in pieces as state funding becomes available.

Slam dunk with Bay Youth Basketball

The Bay Youth Basketball Association was developed seven years ago to give children something to do during the winter months.

With an emphasis on sportsmanship, which director Robert Williams says will be carried with the children throughout their lives, the organization has grown tremendously in its few years of existence.

"We started with four teams. We now have 280 children, which makes up 21 teams," Williams said.

Williams said that when the association was first started he would have to travel with the children to different areas of the county so that they would have different teams to play.

Now, he says, there are enough teams to fill a full 10 hours of basketball just between the teams in the association.

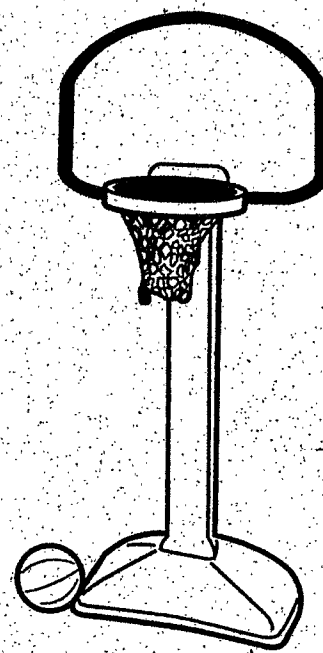

The association is made up completely of volunteers, from coaches, to referees, to concession workers.

Most of the players consist of children from the Bay-Waveland area, but a few come from Pass Christian and there is even one from Slidell.

The children range in age from 5-16 years old.

These pictures were taken Saturday at the Valena C. Jones Gym.

By the way, the winners of this game were the ones in red.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. It looks like the mild temperatures are staying with us for a while longer than expected. I know I better not say that too loud, because it's not nice to mess with Mother Nature. Anyway, the mild temperatures have kept the fish in the shallow waters along the shoreline of the Sound. Some folks are reporting a few nice trout and reds being caught while wading in the shallow waters of the surf.

If you feel you absolutely, positively have to get in the water to fish, you might wanna invest in a pair of chest-high waders. By utilizing chest-high waders you can keep some of the cold water off your body. I strongly suggest you fish with a buddy if you do decide to go into the surf with waders.

Buddies can watch and help one another if one happens to step in a hole and become a bottom inspector. While I am at it, I might as well add that a belt around your waist, on the outside of the waders, will help keep water from filling up the waders if you do happen to step into a hole.

I forgot to mention that the fish caught in the shallow areas responded best to a gold spoon.

The fishin' action has picked up pretty good in the bayous between Bayou Caddy and Pearl River. I have placed a map of the area with this column. The map should help you to become totally lost.

There are two boat hoists which will give access to the area — Bordage and LaFrance. Bordage Marina is in Lakeshore. They launch directly into Bayou Caddy and can be reached from Lakeshore Road.

There are several ways to get to Lakeshore Road. Hwy. 90 intersects Lakeshore Road right by the giant alligator sign of Jubilee Casino. If you get on Lakeshore road at this location it is about four miles and one stop sign to get to Bordage's Marina.

The other way to get to Bordage's is to take Beach Boulevard till you almost get to Jubilee Casino. Lakeshore Road will intersect Beach Boulevard about a half mile before the casino. Follow Lakeshore till right before it makes its first bend, and you will see the marina "this way" sign.

The other marina giving access to the area depicted by the map is LaFrance. They are located in Ansley. To get to LaFrance you need to get to Lower Bay Road.

Lakeshore Road intersects Lower Bay Road. Hwy. 90 caps Lower Bay Road at both ends.

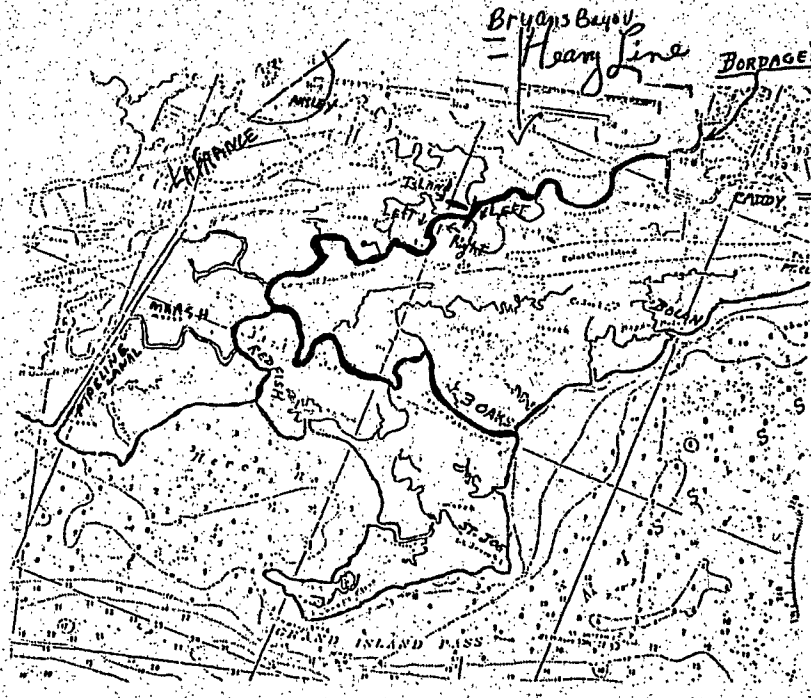

If you are traveling Hwy. 90 coming from the Harrison County direction, Lower Bay Road will be on your left about one mile after you pass the last stop light in Waveland.

The last stop light will be by a shopping center with a National Food Store on one corner and a Circle K on the other corner.

When you get to Lower Bay Road there will be a building on the corner called the Log Cabin. They serve barley pop. Turn left off Hwy. 90 onto Lower Bay Road; go a couple of miles and you will come to a stop sign.

Keep on going straight a couple more miles till you cross a railroad track. Lower Bay Road will make a sharp bend to the right about a half mile past the RR tracks.

You will see a road leading to the left in this bend with a LaFrance "this way" sign. Follow this road for a few more miles and you will come to LaFrance Marina.

Now that you know how to get to the marinas, let's talk about the fishin'. The Pipeline Canal is producing some nice-size specks. Fishermen working this area report having the best results by dragging a pair of white beetle tails behind their boats.

The cuts coming out of the marsh around Redfish Bayou, and Three Oaks Bayou are home to red fish who seem to be big-time hungry for cacaho minnows. The mouth of Redfish Bayou, where it empties into Herron Bay, is producing a few door mat-size flounders, along with specks and reds, on gold spoons and live acachos.

If you decide to fish in Three Oaks Bayou, you might want to stay in the front part of the bayou. I have almost no reports of fish being caught in the bayou after it makes its sharp left-hand turn.

Most of the trout have been caught trolling. They have been caught in the area from the first turn after open water till you get to a washout area close to the sharp left-hand turn.

The flats on either side of the mouth of Three Oaks Bayou have been producing slow but steady action on reds and founders. The best bait here has been the live cacaho fished under a cork.

Before I shut it down this week I gotta pass on a recipe for oysters that is not only heavy-duty good, but can be made pronto-like quick, in a hurry.

Here 'tis: Drain one pint of oysters. Empty one jar of extra-thick Prego into a pot. Add the oysters to the Prego and cook till the edges curl, on the oysters, (about 5 minutes).

Pour on top of cooked spaghetti and "pig out."

This week's wonderful wise words: It is more better to drive your car on Hwy. 90, than your boat.

Did you find that hole where they catch filet fish yet, Turtle?

Fillingame scores two in 6-1 rout of Bearcats, OLA stays undefeated

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Our Lady Academy Crescent soccer team remained undefeated on the season with a 6-1 win over the Long Beach Bearcats on Monday night.

Andie Fillingame continued her scoring dominance by booting two goals for OLA in the game.

Nikki Krost, Meredith Quinlan, Marion Labat, and sweeper Leslie Esher all scored for the Crescents. Lindy Heitzmann was credited with an assist for the Crescents.

OLA's record now improves to 8-0-2.

OLA will host the Bay High Tigers on Friday at the SSC field in Bay St. Louis.

The only loss this season for the Lady Tigers has come at the hands of OLA.

Jr. Rocks drop two games

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The St. Stanislaus junior high Rocks lost two games to the Vancleave Bulldogs on Monday.

In eighth grade action, the Bulldogs defeated the Rocks 42-28.

Two convicted for gill net violations

Two Coast men were convicted and fined in Harrison County Justice Court for multiple gill net violations.

Joey R. Bosancon and Steve Jordan were found guilty of gill netting in waters of Biloxi's Back Bay north of Hwy. 90. The pair also was found guilty on charges of possession of improperly marked gill nets and possession of multiple nets.

Justice Court Judge Dewey Lawrence fined Bosancon and Jordan a total of $2,200 each for the three charges. The pair was fined $2,000 for gill netting in closed waters and $100 apiece for each of two other charges.

Bosancon was found guilty after entering a plea of not guilty to the charges. Jordan failed to appear for the court date and was found guilty in his absence.

The pair was arrested Nov. 11 after conservation officers received a tip from a recreational fisherman that the men were gill netting in Biloxi Bay. The fisherman assisted officers in pursuing the pair.

"Without the help of this private citizen we would not have been able to make these arrests and get a conviction in court," said the conservation officers.

Not long ago, delivering a baby was a cold, clinical procedure far removed from the comforts of home. Today, you can use your own entrance and go straight to a private, comfortable suite where you experience the joy of birth. At The Women's Center at NorthShore Regional, we keep pace with technology. Yet, one thing never changes: the excellent care our new mothers receive.

The medical staff at NorthShore Regional is a group of highly skilled individuals. Our doctors understand that expectant moms need more from them than technology and medical expertise. Our nurses, almost all of them mothers themselves, provide top-notch care with a personal touch.

Our recently expanded Women's Center offers several options including deluxe labor/delivery/recovery suites, labor rooms, and operating rooms. Available if needed, our Neonatal Intensive Care Unit is equipped with sophisticated monitoring technology and 24-hour coverage by a neonatologist. Plus, we provide the region's only Pediatric Intensive Care Unit which features high-tech equipment and specially trained staff.

Shockley leads Rocks' defense and sinks the Admirals 60-54

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-chaws garnered a huge win on Saturday over the state ranked Gulfport Admirals by the score of 60-54.

Stephen Shockley, the Dennis Rodman of SSC, grabbed a team, season, and career high 20 rebounds in the contest. The Admirals totaled only 30 rebounds as a team for the game.

Coach Ladner stated, "No doubt about it, Shockley stepped up his game and was definitely our spark tonight."

In the first game of the night, the jv Rocks narrowly fell to the Admirals 51-46.

The game was a battle from the beginning. Gulfport jumped out to a 9-2 lead before Correy Gex nailed a three-pointer with 3:14 to go in the first period. Matt Roth tied the ball game with back to back layups. The Rocks took the lead with 2:04 to go in the first period with a monster 'Yam' by Clay Williams over a Gulfport defender. The first period ended in a 13-13 tie.

The Rocks took a 17-13 lead after Matt Kopfler's foul shots at the charity stripe. Gulfport had trouble inbounding the ball and Correy Gex made a possession saving heads up play going out of bounds when he bounced the ball off the knee of a Gulfport defender allowing SSC to retain possession. The Rocks took a 19-15 lead at this point with a Clay Williams lay-up with 3:49 to go in the half.

Mike Magee scored on a lay up and stole the inbound pass and dished to Matt Kopfler who was fouled with :31 seconds to go in the half. Kopfler pulled the Rocks to within two at 26-24 with the foul shots to the end of the first half.

The third period saw the Admirals dominate as they scored 14 points and allowed only three points.

The Rocks started the fourth period on a 8-2 run that saw the Admirals lose their top shooter Jose Evans. Jason Kirschenheuter rallied for four quick points off the bench for the rocks during this run.

With 1:07 remaining Correy Gex nailed a three-pointer to pull the Rocks within five at 47-42. With :38 seconds left, Gex was fouled and went to the line and sank both free shots making the score 47-44. With :13 seconds to go and the score 49-46, Correy Gex took a last ditch effort three-pointer that rattled out of the cylinder and no good. The final score was 51-46.

Coach Jerry Spell commented, "The primary reason we lost was that we had trouble with their half court press in the third period. We had a chance to tie the game after we got under control but missed the opportunity. Their execution in the third was much better. I thought Matt Roth played a great all-around game for us tonight."

Kopfler ended the game with 13 points. Gex added 10 points and Matt Roth nailed 9 points. Clay Williams had 5 blocks in the game.

In the varsity game, the Rocks' Vince Moran took the opening shot and nailed a three-pointer. From that point on the Rocks never were behind. The score was tied only once at 46-46 with 6:50 to go in the fourth period. The incredible defense played by the Rocks and the ominous presence of Stephen Shockley were the keys to victory for the Rocks.

The Rocks went on a 8-0 run to start the game and Gulfport didn't score their first points until 5:07 to go in the first period.

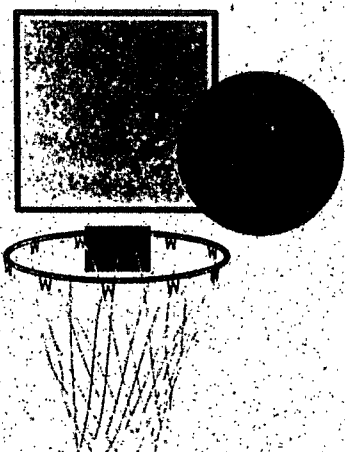

The Rocks ended the first period with an 18-7 lead.

Terry Lawyer brought the fans to their feet when he went baseline for a 'Slam Yam' with 5:12 to go in the half. However, Gulfport was not to be denied. The Admirals pulled to within four by the end of the half. The score at the intermission was 34-30 in favor of SSC.

The Admirals came to play in the second half as the opening shot of the half by SSC's Terry Lawyer was swatted NBA style by Gulfport's Lorenzo Wright into the stands.

However, Lawyer went right back to the basics and extended the Rocks' lead to 37-30 with a high percentage shot with 6:56 to go in the third period.

The Admirals ended the third period with a technical foul on their bench and the Rocks protected their lead at 45-40 at the end of three.

With 6:07 to go in the game, Vince Moran spotted up for a three-pointer and nailed it making the score 51-46. Moran came right back with a reverse lay-up and extended the lead to 53-48. The Admirals never really threatened after that.

With :09 seconds to go, Moran nailed two free throws to seal the upset and victory at 60-54.

Coach Ladner stated, "Anytime you beat a team with traditions like Gulfport, it's a huge win. They have one of the best coaches, Brian Caldwell, in the state. We changed our defenses alot during the game to keep them off balance. We lost our composure a little at the end of the first half. In the second half we got back under control and played our game."

He continued, "I thought Brandon Benoit played his best game of this year and Stephen Shockley was just everywhere. Vince Moran kept our lead protected in the second half with his output."

When asked about Coach Ladner's new Tabasco Hot Sauce tie and its effect on the game, he replied, "I don't know if it helped, but you can bet I'll have it on against East Central on Tuesday and St. Martin on Friday!" Good luck, coach.

Brandon Benoit, Vince Moran, and Terry Lawyer each had 13 points to lead the Rocks. Benoit scored 15 points in the first half. Moran also had 7 assists and 2 steals. SSC had 36 total rebounds and Shockley had 20 of those 36 boards. In the last two games, Shockley has also tallied 6 drawn charges. The win ups the Rocks record to 14-7 overall and 4-1 in the division.

Advanced training

Joe Bourgeois, left, and Geoffrey Burgess recently completed a State Fire Academy six-week firefighting instructions. Both are members of the Waveland Fire Department.

Waveland firefighters attend academy

Waveland firefighters Joe Bourgeois and Geoffrey Burgess were among 24 firefighters to complete six weeks of intense firefighting instruction.

The course was attended by the firefighters and was designed to meet the uniform minimum training standards stated in the Mississippi Code Section 83-1-37, and the course also meets or exceeds the training standards set by the National Fire Protection Association for Firefighter Professional Qualifications.

Additional instruction was presented on hazardous materials for first responders and the incident command system.

Each of the students has returned to their department with an understanding of equipment found on fire apparatus, how the equipment functions and are able to test the safety of such items as hose and ladders.

The Mississippi Fire Academy is a division of the State Insurance Department.

Commissioner George Dale and Academy executive director William Warren agree that these career firefighters, through their newly acquired skills and knowledge, will be an asset to the fire departments they represent in implementing fire protection for their community.

Rocks drink deep from Mayor's Cup — Moran and Morris named MVP's

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-chaw basketball team had a tough time with the Bay High Tigers in the first half of the Mayor's Cup on Friday night at the Tiger Dome. However, Vince Moran, SSC's MVP, stepped up his game in the second half and the Rocks sent the Tigers reeling 75-37. The second half saw the Tigers score only 11 points.

Coach Austin stated, "SSC's depth got to us in the second half. They were running in 12 players to our seven guys. Plus, we were missing Ricky Soldine. We shot poorly in the second half. Lee Morris played his best game of the year. He handled the presses well and played good defense. Their depth just got to us."

In the first game of the night, the Bay High Lady Tigers defeated the Our Lady Academy Crescents 54-39 in the girls game.

Bay High jumped out to a 15-7 lead in the first period and extended that lead to 30-12 by halftime. The teams each scored 12 points in the third period and Bay High outscored OLA in the final stanza 15-12 to ensure the win.

Hyacinth Cappie scored 19 points for OLA and Jessica Keller added 8 points in the loss. Cappie hit four 3-pointers for the Crescents.

Chanda Haley led Bay High with 15 points and 8 rebounds. Alicia Gavney poured in 10 points for Bay High. Valerie Christmas added 10 points in the win. Lisa Yarborough grabbed 8 rebounds and Shannon Baker dished out 6 assists for the Lady Tigers.

Coach Debbie Triplett stated, "We were just glad to win. We came out and executed and jumped on them early."

The win improves the Tigers' record to 11-8 overall and 4-2 in the division.

In the second game of the night, the SSC junior varsity Rocks pounded out a 67-46 win over the JV Tigers.

The Rocks held a 40-19 lead at halftime and extended that to 57-27 at the end of the third period.

Ryan LaFontaine scored 15 points for the Tigers with all coming 3-pointers. Tommy Lee scored 9 points while Bill McGowan and Wendall Raboteau each scored 7 points in the loss.

Matt Kopfler scored 26 points to lead the Rocks. He scored 10 points in the third period. Kopfler grabbed 13 rebounds and had 3 steals.

Correy Gex scored 12 points and all of them coming off 3-pointers. Gex also recorded 4 assists and 3 rebounds. Clay Williams added 13 points, 10 rebounds, and 4 blocked shots in the win.

Coach Jerry Spell commented, "Gex had a good game for us tonight. With this being only his second game back he has made some good strides. In his first game back, his outside shot was not there and it hindered our inside game. Tonight, his outside shot was there and it opened up our inside game with Williams and Kopfler. Mike Magee had an outstanding game on defense for us tonight. Jason Kirschenheuter had a tremendous game banging the boards for us. It was a good win."

In the night's finale, the Rocks surged past the Tigers in the second half 75-37.

It was a nip and tuck ball game in the first period as Terry Lawyer kept the Rocks ahead with 4 points and a blocked shot. Robbie Lumpkin hit a key three-pointer from 'downtown' Bay St. Louis to keep the Tigers close at 14-10.

The second period was very much the same story as the Rocks held a 31-26 lead at halftime. Terry Lawyer blocked a shot to start the second period and scored 9 points in the second period for the Rocks. Lee Morris kept the Tigers within scoring strike by adding 6 points in the second.

The Rocks came out in the second half looking like a different team. Vince Moran led the charge in the third period that saw the Rocks score 29 points to the Tigers' 6 points. Moran scored 9 points in the third period highlighted by a baseline, one-handed 'Slam Yam' at the 5:15 mark.

In the fourth period, the Rocks continued their dominance by allowing only 5 points by the Tigers. The final score ended 75-37.

The MVP for Bay High was Lee Morris. Vince Moran was SSC's MVP.

Coach Jay Ladner stated, "I thought we played uninspired ball in the first half. We did not play smart ball. We came in here thinking it might be an easy game and the kids found out pretty quick that Bay High
